Hi, I'm Mindi and I'm so glad you stopped by!

My passion is in creating the gift of home. A place that will bring you peace, allow you to recharge, and meet the needs of your family!

As a real estate agent, I help my clients sell their current home and find their new perfect place in the Madison and south central WI region.

If you feel your current home is where you want to be, but it's not what you love, I can help you remodel and decorate your space so that it matches your style.

I would love to learn how I can help you find or create the home you desire! Email me today to start a conversation.

More About Me

This is where I would love to talk about how you got into this career and why you love it. Talk about your personal experience of moving into your husband's childhood home and working on remodeling it to become your family's home.

My Team

Here I would love to mention Amy, what she does on your team, and a little about her!

Keep Up With Us Here

Blog posts could include:

1. When you help clients buy, sell, remodel, decorate.
2. Posts that educate people on why you need a real estate agent, what a good agent will do for you.
3. Other ideas....
